that it seems real. That as a reader I believe these things are or could be happening. That I am transported into a different world. Elizabeth Hunter has proven over and over again that she has this amazing talent, and "Desert Bound" is no exception. To me, she is one of the best fantasy/paranormal authors and I can't get enough of the worlds and stories she so beautifully creates. And though I normally do not care much for shifter romances, the Cambio Springs Mystery series has me captivated and loving every second of it. "Desert Bound" is the second full-length novel in the Cambio Springs Mystery series. "Shifting Dreams" has introduced us to the secrets that surround Cambio Springs and the people living there. "Desert Bound" makes us a now a full-fledged citizen of it, telling us more about life in Cambio Springs, the secrets, the people and the rules that the shifter life entails. It is the story of Ted and Alex, two absolutely fantastic and loveable characters. They have a history together, having not only grown up in the same town and been friends since they could walk, but there was also love and passion between them. Love that never went away, but due to different circumstances and ambitions, they have been driven apart. Even years later, both of them have the wounds and scars that separating caused them, so with Alex returning to Cambio Springs all the anger, fear, insecurity, hurt and pain come to the surface again as neither of them can avoid the other - living in the same town and sharing the same friends. But it is not only the negative feelings that resurface, also the attraction, love, lust, passion, admiration and respect they held for each other comes back with a vengeance, which makes staying away from each other even harder. But Alex doesn't want to stay away from Ted. He knows, she is the one for him and he's the type of man to not give up until he gets what he wants. He is ambitious and driven and willing to sacrifice his own happiness for the people he loves and who depend on him, even if it nearly breaks him. He is possessive and protective - the perfect alpha male - which goes in line with his wolf nature. Not one to back down, he butts heads with a number of people but at the end everyone respects his authority. So naturally, he isn't swayed by the objections his family has about him being with Alex. But until that happens, he has to prove to her that he is there to stay. And he does so in the most charming, tender and sexy ways possible. Seeing how deep his feelings run for her and how he cares about her with all his being was truly heart-warming. Ted on the other hand doesn't feel any less for her, but she is scared to fall for him again, as last time that happened it left her with a broken heart. She is hesitant to trust him and let him in her heart, despite knowing that he is the only one for her. But cats don't trust easily and she makes him work for her love. Yet, when it comes down to it, she is there to support him and stand by his side, protecting him fiercely and not allowing anyone to verbally or physically attack him. When it comes to Alex she is loyal to the core. The fact that he doesn't expect her to submit to him, instead loving her intelligence, strength and independence, means the world to her feline nature. They truly complete each other. Even all the fighting they do, the banter and the bickering is part of their relationship and keeps them engaged and interested. It just fits who they are and doesn't do any damage to their relationship. I loved to see them getting back together - even if it took a while. It was beautiful, how the slowly wormed their way into each others hearts and lives. And how they did not allow anything to get in their way. Surely, the whole thing was helped along by a murder happening in Cambio Springs, that forced them to work together to ensure the safety of their people. The mystery of the crime kept me at the edge of my seat and made me nearly tear my hair out. Elizabeth Hunter's writing is as usually superb. She has an eloquence and poetry in her writing that is rare and makes me feel like I'm cuddled up in a fuzzy warm blanket. The characters she writes have depth and are well-rounded and what really appeals to me is the fact that she writes some of the strongest female characters in romance literature. Her heroines are women to look up to, to admire and to respect. Staying away from stereotypes, not just painting her characters as bad or good, she allows the reader to form their own opinion and enables the reader to create a bond with the characters, that stays way beyond the end of the book. The writing is classy, but at the same time very sexy. It has a little bit of everything in perfect proportions. The best escape from reality there is. 5+ mysterious, perfect stars.
