ber den Autor und weitere MitwirkendeL.R.Buml was born in Munich in 1987. After finishing school she decided that it was time to see the world. Hence she went to Ireland and then to Gibraltar where she still lives today. It is not hard for her to find inspirations for her writing, may it be by talking to people, the beautiful landscape or the cities, that she is lucky enough to get to know, and of course with the help of imagination. The first success she had with a 'published' story was during her years at school, when she got the second place for her horror short-story Der Spiegel (The Mirror) at a Munich radio station. However, reason won over passion and it took her until today to take the step and publish further stories.
