Christian love story - OK but not outstanding
Von Agnieszka
When I've seen the description of this freebie I was very interested in the story and my expectations were pretty high which my first mistake was though I'm not so much into pure romance stories. With roughly 150 pages it would be a fast read if I liked the story more. The constant repeating misunderstandings between the both heroes didn't occur very convincing especially since the obstacles existed mostly in their imaginations and Beth clung so tight to their believed incompatibility it got very dull with the time. The biggest downer was the unrealistic last third of the book which led to the loss of a star in this review. An example was the transformation of John's mother against the end of the book. It was so prompt and so out of nowhere I was wondering 'what happened here?' Only the fact this was a clean Christian valued romance, made the development of the characters to an extend bearable and kind of explainable but still if you're not looking for Christian love stories with fairy tale likely plot I suppose you won't be very happy with this one. So before you get it get informed what it is you get into and the you could enjoy this one or not :-)

Kurzbeschreibung
You never forget your first love... With her eye for design and her cut-glass accent, no-one would guess Beth Forrests impoverished background. Its all throw pillows, china patterns, and upper class brides as she manages the Wedding Registry at Pettett Mayfield, the stately maiden aunt of London department stores. Its not quite her dream job, but each bride she helps to select beautiful and oh-so-expensive items for their gift list brings her one step closer to buying a little home of her own, and financing the education she longs for. When physics professor James Tetherton-Hart, brilliant in his research lab but awkward and disorganised in everyday life, comes to the store in desperate need of both a gift and a partner for a wedding that evening and recognises her, all her careful plans and meticulous checklists are turned upside down. Now her first love is back, determined to make her his partner for life, not just the evening. But unless Beth can let go of the mistaken beliefs that separated them in the past, and appreciate the depth and breadth of Gods love for us all, her only gift from the wedding will be another heartbreak. Book 1 in the Love in Store series of sweet and clean Christian inspirational romances. The series is set around a stately old London department store, and the same settings and staff pop up in each book. But no need to read in order! Every story is a complete romance, following a different couple through the trials and joys of a developing love, to their happy-ever-after. Includes Halloween costumes, kissing, and a hint of gentle slapstick humour, as well as British spelling. Complete with British English Glossary. 37,000 words 162 paperback pages
Faith, Hope, Heartwarming - inspirational romance to make you smile!

Autumn Macarthur is an Australian writer of inspirational romance living near London with her very English husband, three spoiled cats, and a guinea pig with a dandelion addiction. She loves reading, cooking, gardening, and writing deeply emotional stories to make you smile and remind you how big and wide and deep God's love and forgiveness can be. She tends to talk a little too much, laugh a little too loud, and eat a little more than maybe she should. She's thankful to be blessed with some good friends and a very patient husband. Most of all, she's eternally grateful for God's great love and mercy. When she's not talking to her strawberry plants or cherry blossoms, she can be found on Facebook as Autumn Macarthur, on Twitter as @autumnmacarthur, or blogging at www.faithhopeandheartwarming.com. She's also on Goodreads. She'd love to hear from you!
