

[Mobile book] The Woman And The Ape (Panther)

The Woman And The Ape (Panther)

Von Peter Heg

Download PDF / ePub / DOC / audiobook / ebooks*

DOWNLOAD

+

READ ONLINE

Produktinformation -Verkaufsrang: #715097 in eBooksVerffentlicht am: 2012-02-29Erscheinungsdatum:
2012-02-29File Name: B0072HDQFA | File size: 67.Mb

Von Peter Heg : The Woman And The Ape (Panther) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Woman And The Ape (Panther):

Kurzbeschreibung The woman is Madelene, rich, beautiful and alcoholic; the ape, intelligent and illegally imported to London by Madelene's husband Burden. Burden has plans, so does Madelene, and so, as it happens, does the ape. This most controversial of Heg's novels takes us from Society London, across its roof-tops to a forest idyll, to make for a fable at once hilarious and thought-provoking..dePeter Heg, author of the international bestseller Smilla's Sense of Snow, has written a fable that explores our human status as inhabitants of paradise lost, and the trade-off between civilization and freedom. The story begins with a captured ape, dubbed Erasmus, a specimen of an apparently new species with a cognitive ability that seems to rival human capacities. Erasmus is rescued from scientific study and experimentation by Madelene, whose husband, Adam, is the zoo director. Escaping to an Eden-like nature reserve, Madelene finds an empathy with Erasmus that develops into a wild sexual liberation. When the pair emerge from Eden to try to stop Adam continuing researches on others of Erasmus' kind, paradise dissolves, and civilization wins out. Read an interview with Peter Heg.Pressestimmen "The Woman and the Ape has many arrestingly stylish and inventive passages and an overall brilliance of tone that shows once again the originality of Mr. Hoeg's voice" (New York Times) "No imaginative writer working today is any more daring than Danish novelist Peter Hoeg... An utterly original mix of fantasy, fable, myth, and love story" (Backlist) "Heg is a writer determined to make new footprints in the snow" (Guardian)