(deep summer, the handsome road, this side of glory, jubilee trail, calico palace , celia garth)To me, this very book is also one of her best. An american family on the "sunny side of life" discovers war, heartages and death. Elizabeth, the female hero has lost her husband in world war one. Now she is the wife of a devoted husband and mother of fine children. Still she is horrified by the thought of losing her beloved ones to world war two. When she meets an interesting german man, he sort of reminds her of her first husband.. Arthur helps her to realise and also to appreciate the important things in life...

KurzbeschreibungA wife and mother grapples with love and loss in World War IIera Hollywood, in a New York Times bestselling authors emotional tour de force. For two decades, Elizabeth Herlong has been a devoted Hollywood wife, supporting her husband as he built an empire in the budding motion picture industry. But far from the bright glamour of her current life, World War II rages in Europe, forcing Elizabeth to remember her past, awakening feelings and longings she thought she would never experience again. Most of all, she fears for her eldest son, who turns eighteen in less than a year and will have to enlist in the army. Then one night, Elizabeths husband introduces her to a German screenwriter hes been working with. Erich Kessler is a disabled veteran of World War I attempting to make a new life for himself. Something in his face stirs Elizabeths heartsetting her on a journey of discovery about the meaning of true love and the things that war cannot destroy. Made into a film starring Claudette Colbert, Orson Welles, and Natalie Wood, this is a novel of a woman haunted by the shadows of war both past and present, from the New York Times bestselling author of Jubilee Trail, Deep Summer, and other acclaimed novels.
