MYSTERY, ROMANCE, AND SUSPENSE...ALL ROLLED INTO ONEVon lawyeraauThe author is simply one of the best writers of this genre. She is better than Mary Higgins Clark who is the maven for this type of book. Ms. Thompson keeps the reader guessing, with so many twists and turns in the plot as to keep the reader in suspense until the very end. It is an absorbing and compelling page turner. Fifteen years ago, a vivacious, nineteen year old college student, Nicole Sloan, was having a scintillating love affair with handsome, sophisticated, world renowned pianist, Paul Dominic. Little did she realize that her world would crumble, when she was tossed into a maelstrom of violence that would change her life, as well as Paul's, forever. Now thirty four years old, Nicole is mother to a precocious eight year girl and married to a philandering college professor, Roger Chandler, who is leaving her for a twenty year old college student. Adding to her personal pain is the fact that her beloved father inexplicably commits suicide. As her personal life begins to fall apart around her, she is also beset by a series of murders which appear to be happening to people whom she knows. Somehow, these events are tied into the violent and tragic events of her past. Moreover, Paul Dominic, the man whom she loved and believed to have died in a car crash shortly after her life was ripped apart by violence fifteen years earlier, may not be dead after all. Or is he? Confused by the mayhem which seems to be happening around her, and baffled by her sighting of a man who reminds her of Paul and who appears to be watching over her, Nicole sets about trying to unravel a seeming tapestry of intrigue. It is only in understanding her past, however, that her present will make itself clear.

Strohl Just finished this book...I've read four of Carlene Thompson's novels...she is absolutely the best mystery writer ever. This book, like all of her books, keeps you guessing until the very end. I haven't been right yet...can't figure them out. I thought this book was very suspenseful, a real page-turner and so hopelessly un-figurable! Carlene Thompson is the best and I only wish she had more books out there for me to read.

I think this is her most compelling psychological thriller since the inspired character studies and dream-like images of Black for Remembrance. A great lock-all-the-doors and read!

She must find out why, and uncover the shadowy figure who stalks her before he makes his deadly claim.
